From Our Special Correspondent. ALBANY, April 17, 1808. THE MIAGARA SHIP CANAL BILL

was debated at length in the Senate last night, amended so as to give the Canal Board supervisory power in lovying of tolls on the Ship Canal, and ordered to a third reading. A good many members have the impression that if the bill tasses and the canal is built, it will use up the Eric Canal. It is, therefore, strennously opposed. I don't know whether there is any foundation for this apprehension or not; but if there is, of course it would not be advisable to not; but if there is, of course it would not be advisable to pass the bill. An amendment was carried in committee, and also in the Senate, that the canal shall not be built until the Eric Canal is enlarged.

The temarks of Senator La Ban on Saturday, wherein he alluded to the floating rumors of corruption in the Halls of Legislation, have had one good effect; it has cleared the aforcead halls for the time being of the vermin that make up what is known as the Third House. They took "French leave" the instant investigation was libratened, and have not been visible sines. I don't know that there is the least foundation for the stories affect. I don't know that there has been a single dime improperly that there is the least foundation for the stories affect. I from know that there has been a single dime improperly used here during the past Winter. I don't know that there is a corrupt man in the Logislature; but I have heard it lated that there is an organized "ring" in that body, embracing more than one-quarter of the members, with a chairman and scoreing, who are notoriously laboring and voting for pay. There may be no truth in this representation. I hope there is not. I can only say, I should be gled to know what the facts are. My impression has been that the present Logislature is a great improvement uton.

REFUNDING TAXES. The ball to provide for refunding to various Banks and Insurance Companies, in New-York and Brooklyn, taxes illegally assessed on them, passed the Senate yesterday. This was easily done. Now, cannot some plan be derised whereby those who have large amounts of properly that paght to be taxed, but nevertheless escape taxation, can be made to pay? If those who pay too much can get their laxes refunded, those who pay too much can get their laxes refunded, those who pay too little ought to be made to deagorge. "It is a poor rule that won't work both ways."

CLAIMS FOR CANAL DAMAGES.

An important act relative to claims for canal damages, &c., was ordered to a third reading in the Senate yesterday. It is amendatory of the Revised Statutes, and, Emong other things, provides that claimants for damages caused by the canal shall file a dotailed statement, or 'bill of particulars,' of the claim in the Canal Appraiser's Office, and which shall be verified in the manner that pleadings are required by law to be. This will, to some extent, check the rapacity of claimants.

It further provides for the Appraiser's giving at least eight days notice to the Canal Commissioner in charge, and slay to the claimant, of the time and place proposed for the hearing of claiman; and in case the claimant shall fall to bring his case to a hearing, pursuant to the notice, (unless he satisfactorily excuses his default) the Board of Canal Appraisers are compowered to dismiss the claim, or not prov. the claimant. This provision demands the same vigilance of claimants that our civil courts require of guitors.

Another important provision relates to appeals from the awards of the Appraisers by providing that the costs and expenses of the State on the appeal shall be paid by the applicant in case he shall fail to recover a more favor-able award on his appeal. It is believed this provision will save a large amount of expenses heretofore incurred in horizon favorage amounts.

in hearing frivolous appeals.

These amendments earry out the suggestions of the

These amountments curry out the suggestions of the Canal Appraisers in their last report to the Legislature, and meet the decided approval of the Canal Board.

TAXING BANK-SHARES.

The Assembly bill authorizing the taxation of stock-holders of banks and banking associations, which passed the Senste on Friday, was one of considerable importance to taxpayers, and appears to me to be right. The capital of a National Bank cannot be taxed as such, for the reason that it consists of United States securities; but the shares of the bank may be assessed and taxed as personal property to the individual owning them. The distinction made is a very lice one; still, the Courts appear to have recognized. to the individual owning them. The distinction made is a very nice one; still, the Couris appear to have recognized it, and it is probably correct. Practically, no injushica is done. A man's means are invested in a bank, the notial of which consists in National securities, which are drawing an interest of say 7 per cent. This, of course, the bank receives, together with the profits of its ordinary business transactions, enabling the institution to make very handsome dividends. Now, I do not see any good reason why the shareholder should not be taxed on his investment. He did not escape taxation when his stock was in the banks regulated under our State laws. Why should he be ex-He did not escape taxation when his stock was in the banks brantized under our State laws. Why should he be exempt now? The only thing he can justly complain of is, that probably not one-fifth of the property in the State ever gots upon the assessment roll, whereas his shares are sesses and taxed at their full value. But this is the fault of our assessment laws, which our Legislatures lack rather the disposition or ability to correct. I don't know precisely which. As the bill was amended in important barticulars in the Senate, it went back to the House, where it was this morning referred to the Judiciary Committee, with power to report any time.

The Niagara Ship Canal bill, the Albany and Susque-hans Rairoad bill, and the bill to facilitate the construction of the Whitehall and Plattsburgh Road, all passed the Senate this morning. The last mentioned work is to have $5.000 per mile as fast as it shall be completed. The bill to sid the Susquehanna Road appropriates 3-foth of a mill for two years, in all $500,000, the balanceapplicable to the Western Division, and which will secure the completion of the entire line—140 miles. The road opens man incontant section of the State hereofore isolated. up an important section of the State heretofore isolated, and will add largely to its taxable property, its friends say $50,000,000. Fenian Meeting at Calais.

Calais, Me., Taesday, April 17, 1866.

A large Fenian meeting was held at St. Creix Hall last night, and was addressed by Messrs, Killian and Sinnott. The former spoke for an hour on Ireland's wrongs, but declared that in the efforts of the Brotherhood to free Ireland they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would respect the laws of the United States. He said they would be assist Ireland in her hour of need. They could do this by sympathy and by farnishing arms or the means to buy them. The Brotherhood now embraced 1,000,000 men. It was the true policy of the American ration to prevent the establishment of a monarchy north of them as was foreshaldowed in the British scheme of confederation. If those opposed to the measure in the Provinces were to revolt on account of it, the Fenians were ready to assist them, and in doing so would be carrying out what was the true American policy. If the Americans wanted to remove monarchy from Maxico, how much more careful ought they to be that there is not one established at Ottawa. He declared it to be the intention of the Fenians to continue holding a convention on the border, until the confederation question was settled. Every dimculty that alose under the British frag gave hope to an Irish rebel, and every man that had sucked an Irish mother was a rebel against British tyranny. The fishery question was another which the Fenians would see was justly settled, which could only be when Great British tyranny appeal to the sympat

He won the first heat with great case by ten lengths in 2:45, Bill Wheelan being second, and the mare last; the second by six lengths in 2:46, and the third by the same distance in 2:45—Kate Atwoood second in both heats. We give the properties, and in this mamer every breath of air you take into the lung is converted into a poisonous agent of death. There is no distone the entire estatogue of human sits, the treatment of which has been so much neglected and perhaps so little understood as Chronic Catarrh, and hence from the practice ordinarily adopted by the profession there is little to kope.

CHRONIC SORE THROAT.

We find on examining the throat of persons who have suffered from Chronic Catairh for any considerable length of time, that the mucous membrane presents a rough and sneven surface, studded with elevated points or granulations, varying in size from a pin's head to that of a pea. These points are not unfrequently filled with puriform matter, pes. These points are not unfrequently nice with purious matter, and as the disease advances are literally destroyed by clearation leaving small pits or depressions upon the membrane, which can be readily seen by any one who will take the trouble to make a stress examination. This condition of the threat is known under the name of Follicular inflationation. These mecous follicities, or small glands in the throat, in a healthy condition accrete a bland, much against shid, which serves to libricate the parts and shield the membrane from the scessant bemming, hawking and spitting so universally common it scomes thickened, the voice becomes husky and luses its natural ring

BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CONSUMP-TION.

The term Brouchitis has not unfrequently been applied to disof the threat. It will be seen that this is a mistaken lifes, when we remember that is a former letter we described the windpipe at its entrance into the lungs as dividing into two branches. Now these ranches are the beginning of the broughlal tubes, one entering the ight lung the other the left; and each subdivides into immunerable right long the other the left; and each subdivides into immunicable smaller tabes, not unlike the branches of a tree. When we speak of brouchitis, therefore, we speak of a disease located in the lungs, and not in the throst, as has been too commonly supposed. There are various forms of broughtis, which we have neither time nor space to discuss. Suffice it to say that broughtide consists essentially of an infimunation of the membrane linking the broughtid tubes or air pipes leading into the lines.

flammation of the membrane ining the Drononia tunes of air paper leading into the longs.

Fow persons seem to realize the importance of early attention to these difficulties. They think so long as they can attend to their bus-inces, go about and feet cornfortable, these all is well. They try to con-sole themselves with the idea that the irritation is only in the throat sole themselves with the idea that the irritation is only in the throat their cough, hearteness and other unpleasant symptoms are only the result of a slight cold and will soon pass off, and thus they neglect themselves from day to day, ever hoping that they will grow better, while the disease by stealthy steps is making deeper and deeper the readsupon the system. It would be a more waste of time to enumer set the liet of remedies that have been introduced and administered through the stomach for the cure of these affections; and so, far from staining any good results, they have in most instances, it is to be feared, aggravated the very simptoms they were intended to relieve. Since the gravifying and successful results of my treatment by inhibition has become so widely known and appreciated, quacks have spring up here and there like exhalations out of the ground, each professing to have made some wonderful discovery in the circ of Catarrib, Deeffress, and other complaints too numerous to mention. The Desiress, and other complaints too numerous to mention. The officied should beware how they tamper with these medical preenders.

From extensive observation and experience, and from having made this department of medicine an object of special attention for the past twenty years, we feel amply justified in the remark that Inhala ion is the patient's only safe and reliable ground of hope. It is in his way only that the whole extent of the diseased surface can be reached, not only the diseased surfaces of the head and throughout he entire extent of the respiratory tobes, including all the annaller air bells and sage in the lungs, where the solids or fluids cannot enter. In this manner we have successfully combated not only chronic atarrh, sere throat, and the more deep-seated bronchial affections, but we have had the happiness of restoring to health and strength many of the most honeless cases of Consumption, when all the ordi-nary remedies adopted by the profession had utterly and signally
